Molotov Asks Work Toward World Peace

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — V. M. Molotov Wednesday put before the United Nations a far-reaching Russian bid for "peaceful coexistence" to end the cold war. He left the next move to the United States and the other Western Powers.

The Soviet foreign minister told the 10th anniversary meeting of the U. N. that "We should pass from words to deeds and embark upon such steps as would lead to the establishment of the necessary trust among nations."

"What is obviously needed," he said, "is something more than just verbal recognition of the principle of coexistence and peaceful cooperation between countries with different social structures. . . . What we are all interested in today is not merely that certain principles be recognized or proclaimed but that concrete action be taken to serve the cause of maintaining and cementing international peace and security."

In a one-paragraph reference to the Big Four summit meeting next month, Molotov said it will have "great importance if all its members show a genuine desire to ease tensions in international relations, to settle outstanding issues and to consolidate peace."

To the applause of delegates of 59 other countries and hundreds of San Franciscans, Molotov pledged the support of the Soviet Union to the U. N. in its continuing efforts to cement peace and restore international trust.

As a step on that road, he urged the U. N. to consider calling a world economic conference to facilitate the development of international trade.

Molotov's program embraced many of the major points Moscow has fought for in vain in the last 10 years. Here are some of the moves he said should be made:

1. Red China must be seated in the U. N. without "further procrastination" and the island of Formosa must be "returned" to the Chinese authorities on the mainland, that is, the Communists.
2. Settlement of the problem of atomic weapons, renunciation the use of atomic and hydrogen weapons, and outlawing of these weapons completely. This was part of the peace package proposed by the Soviet Union at the London sessions of a five-power disarmament subcommittee on May 10 and now under Western scrutiny.

3. Inclusion of representatives of Red China in future discussions on the problem of reduction of armaments, the prohibition of atomic weapons and the "removal of the threat of a new war."

4. Implementation of the General Assembly's resolution on the termination of war propaganda in all countries. This resolution was passed in 1947 and represented a watered-down version of a Soviet attack on "warmongers."

5. Agreement among the great powers to dismantle bases in foreign territories. This is a perennial at U. N. assemblies and never receives more than the votes of the five Communist countries in the U. N.

6. Agreement between the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France on the withdrawal of their forces from Germany, with the exception of small contingents to be temporarily left behind, and strict limitation of local police forces in both parts of Germany.

7. Development of the peaceful uses of atomic energy and large-scale industrial, scientific and technical assistance to countries which are less fully developed technically. However, Russia has not yet accepted President Eisenhower's program for using atoms for peace, laid before the U. N. Assembly on Dec. 8, 1953.

Doctor Asks New, 'Less Dangerous,' Polio Drug; Other Experts Disagree

By HERB ALTSCHUL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Albert B. Sabin, a longtime critic of the Salk polio vaccine, recommended Wednesday that its manufacture be halted and a "less virulent" strain of the disease. Other doctors disagreed.

Sabin, a University of Cincinnati researcher, made his recommendations in testifying at a symposium on the vaccine conducted by a House Commerce subcommittee. Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) had called in 15 medical experts with the hope of creating "renewed confidence" in the mass vaccination program now under way.

Two other doctors present took issue with Sabin, who is working on his own formula for an anti-polio vaccine. They were Dr. Thomas M. Rivers of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, and Dr. Joseph E. Smadel of the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital here.

Rivers said that what Sabin was suggesting was "that we stop making a safe vaccine and make a safer one."

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele told another congressional group last week that the Salk vaccine is "a potent material as safe as we know how to make it."

But Sabin, who is working with the Children's Hospital Research Foundation in Cincinnati, contended there is no way to be sure the vaccine now used can be made "regularly safe."

Sabin and a number of other researchers are working on a live virus vaccine and Dr. Smadel contended there is no way to be sure the vaccine now used can be made "regularly safe."

Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, developer of the controversial vaccine, took no part in the argument except to warn against "losing sight of the forest for the trees."

"I prefer to remain in the role of an investigator providing the facts," Salk told the subcommittee. Speaking to newsmen later, however, Salk expressed confidence in the current inoculation program.

So far about six million school children in the first and second grades have been inoculated with the Salk vaccine.

Sabin said it is the Mahoney virus that caused him to fear for the safety of the program. This is one of several strains of polio virus. A strain is a group of organisms having a common lineage and differing in some respects from another group.

Ike Declares U.S. Wants Peace, But Will Remain Tough

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

RUTLAND, Vt. (P) — President Eisenhower declared Wednesday America always will extend "the olive branch" of peace to all willing to accept it honestly—but always will remain strong too.

Opening a six-day tour of northern New England, the President told an applauding, police-estimated crowd of 25,000 persons at the Rutland Fairgrounds that in the search for enduring peace, "We must be determined. We must not sacrifice principle for expediency."

His remarks took on special significance with the Big Four "at the summit" conference opening July 18 in Geneva, Switzerland.

World peace was the central theme of Eisenhower's informal address, but there was an air of politics at the fairgrounds too—created by Republican Sen. George Aiken of Vermont.

Aiken introduced the President and made a jovial—but unsuccessful—attempt to find out whether Eisenhower will seek a second term.

Kindhearted Boy Uses Allowance To Aid Overparkers

LOMBARD, Ill. (P) — For several weeks, police ticketed cars for overparking in the main shopping district of this Chicago suburb, and for weeks angry motorists complained they still had time on their parking meters when they found the tickets on their windshields.

Some of the irate motorists were Police Chief John D. Biehl's best friends. He wanted to believe them. He also wanted to believe his patrolmen.

Tuesday, Officer Richard Kahl got a break in the perplexing case.

After spotting a car parked by a meter on which time had expired, Kahl began writing a ticket.

While looking down at his ticket pad, Kahl heard a small, polite voice say:

"Officer, you can't put a ticket on that car because there's still time on the meter."

Kahl looked up just in time to see a serious-faced boy shove a penny into the meter in question.

Taken by Chief Biehl, 13-year-old Thomas Ponczko admitted he had been feeding meters by cars which had been ticketed. He felt sorry for the motorists, he explained.

Wednesday Thomas paid the fine assessed by a police magistrate. Using his weekly allowance and working under the watchful eye of officer Kahl, Thomas put 10 pennies into each of 20 meters in a downtown block.

Stevens Quits As Secretary Of Army; Brucker Successor

Resignation Effective Next Month; Pentagon Counsel Named To Post

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert T. Stevens quit as secretary of the Army Wednesday, a year after his celebrated row with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

President Eisenhower named Pentagon general counsel Wilber M. Brucker, a onetime Republican governor of Michigan, to succeed him.

Stevens, who had said repeatedly he would stay in office as long as the President wanted him, gave unspecified "compelling personal considerations" as his reasons for resigning, effective toward the end of next month.

Eisenhower, in a letter accepting the resignation "with deep regret," praised him for "devotion" and told him he had "contributed extensively to the vital task of reshaping our military forces to conform to the conditions of our time."

Neither man made any reference to the McCarthy-Army row which roared to a climax just about this time last year. Since then four other figures in the controversy have left the government—McCarthy aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr; Army counsel John G. Adams and Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel.

In addition McCarthy was rebuked by the Senate—though not on charges growing directly out of his feud with Stevens and other Pentagon officials. McCarthy declined comment Wednesday on Stevens' resignation.

Brucker, who will be 61 Thursday, has been the Defense Department's general counsel—and head of its security system—since April 1954. He had something of a clash with McCarthy during a Senate investigation of the "Who Promoted Peress?" case earlier this year.

The White House announced the Stevens-Brucker shift just before Eisenhower took off for a swing through New England. Only Tuesday presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty denied any knowledge that the long-rumored Stevens resignation was imminent.

Stevens, Brucker and Secretary of Defense Wilson rode with the President from the White House to the airport. Later, at the Pentagon, they held a news conference.

Brucker's nomination must be passed on by the Senate.

Stevens became a familiar figure to the nation in last year's televised hearings into his charge that McCarthy and aides tried by improper methods to get special treatment for their just-drafted associate, Pvt. G. David Schine, and McCarthy's countercharge that the Army tried to blackmail him out of investigating alleged subversion, especially at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Day after day on the witness stand he underwent McCarthy's hammer-and-tongs cross-examination.

Stevens denied any softness on his or the Army's part toward subversives in uniform. He acknowledged he wanted the McCarthy Investigating Committee to change its tactics. And he made it plain he went out of his way to keep in McCarthy's good graces before their final break. But on the "blackmail" charges he made a categorical denial.

A ripple of the McCarthy-Army row touched Brucker last month when the Senate Investigations subcommittee looked into the Army's promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, who has refused to answer questions about communism.

Brucker said the Army handled the Peress case wrongly. But he said he did not think there was any "deliberate wrongdoing." McCarthy contended Pentagon higher-ups "protected" those who "coddled" Peress in order to cover up for themselves.

Stevens, 55, presumably will return to his post as board chairman of J. P. Stevens, Inc., one of the nation's biggest textile concerns.

He became secretary of the Army at the peak of a controversy over reported ammunition shortages in the Korea War. Immediately he flew to Korea, came back and toured production centers, and finally announced the supply situation was under control.

Brucker was Michigan's Republican governor in 1931-32. Previously he was the state's attorney general.

Long active in Republican affairs, he was chairman of the Michigan State GOP convention in 1948.

Brucker holds the Silver Star for service with the 42nd Rainbow division in France during World War I. He and Mrs. Brucker make their permanent home in Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. They have one child, Wilber M. Jr.

Stevens, from Plainfield, N. J., also is a Republican.

NEHRU, BULGANIN ASK SURRENDER OF FORMOSA TO REDS

MOSCOW, Thursday, (P) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin Thursday published a joint declaration calling for peaceful surrender of Formosa to the Chinese Communists.

The declaration, signed by the two men in the Kremlin Wednesday night, also urged seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

It also called for "imposition of a complete ban on production, experimentation and use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons of war."

HOW MIDWESTERN SENATORS VOTED

WASHINGTON (P) — Here's how these Midwestern senators voted Wednesday as the Senate by a 77-4 roll call vote rejected a resolution by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) aimed at forcing discussion of the status of Soviet satellite nations at the forthcoming Big Four conference.

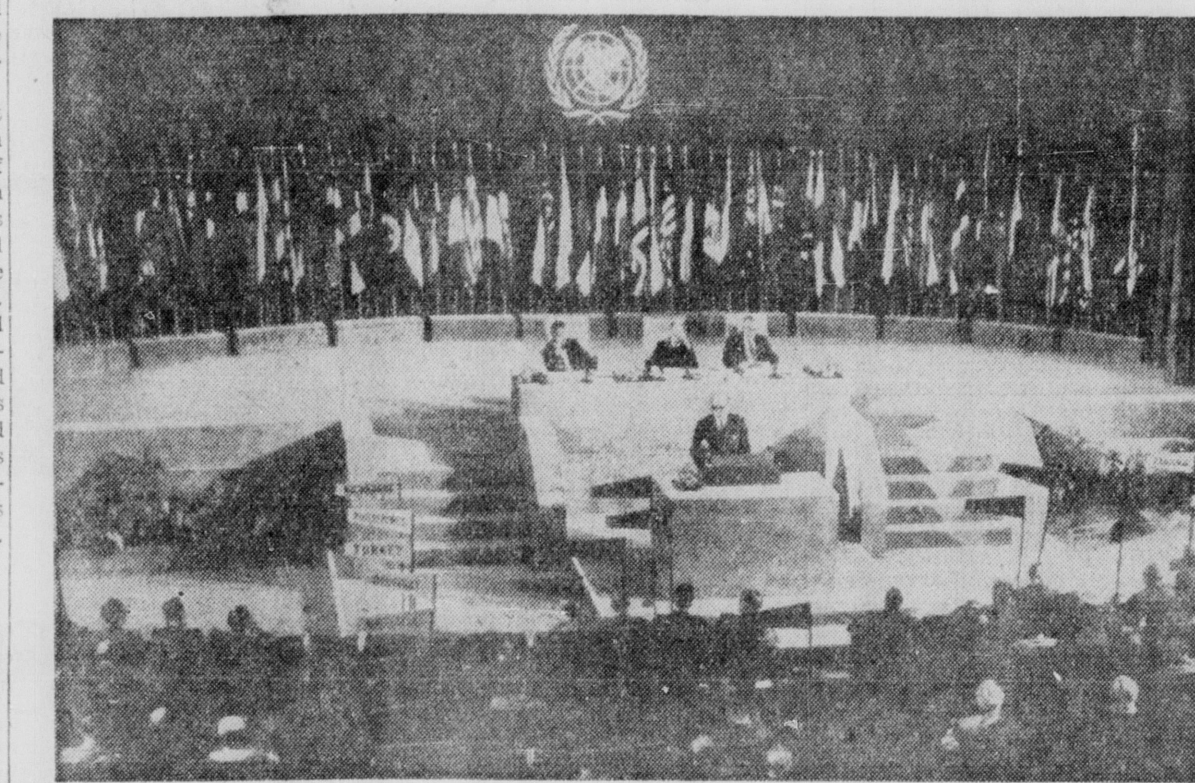

Illinois: Douglas (D) against; Dirksen (R) absent.

Indiana: Capelhart (R) against; Jenner (R) for.

Iowa: Hickenlooper (R) against; Martin (R) against.

Missouri: Symington (D) against; Jennings (D) against.

Wisconsin: McCarthy (R) for; Wiley (R) absent or not voting.

Senate Shouts Down McCarthy Resolution For Big Four, 77-4

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate administered a 77-4 drubbing Wednesday to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his resolution to force a discussion of the Soviet satellites at the forthcoming Big Four conference.

In the maneuvering and heated bickering that preceded the vote, McCarthy tried and failed to call off a direct showdown. The Democratic leadership blocked that maneuver and the result was the overwhelming vote rebuffing McCarthy.

The Senate roared down a motion by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), friend of McCarthy, to send the resolution back to the Foreign Relations Committee. It balked at taking what McCarthy called a "softened down" substitute. It refused to let McCarthy withdraw the original.

And the Wisconsin senator wound up by tossing charges of aiding the Communists at those who insisted on the showdown vote which McCarthy himself had been demanding as late as last Monday.

The administration, Senate leaders of both parties and the Foreign Relations Committee tear up almost solidly against the resolution, which would have expressed the sense of the Senate that Russia be required in advance to agree to take up the status of her European and Asian satellites at the top-level Big Four meeting in Geneva July 18. Thus the resolution, in effect, would have put the Senate on record as opposing any Big Four conference unless Moscow gave such consent.

Senator after senator protested that this would "tie the hands" of the President and show lack of confidence in him.

In the end, only McCarthy, Jenner, and Sens. Langer (R-ND) and Malone (R-NeV) voted for the resolution.

Forty-two Democrats and 35 Republicans voted "no." It was announced that four other Democrats and three Republicans who didn't vote were against the measure.

An objection by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), an old McCarthy foe, blocked the attempt to withdraw the resolution and get it off the floor. McCarthy promptly accused Fulbright of doing a "stellar service" to the Communist party.

Fulbright merely smiled back. Not so Sen. Morse (D-Ore.).

Morse called Fulbright a "great senator," "one of the great Americans of our day," and protested that McCarthy "tried to brush all over the senator from Arkansas the smear of Communist appeasement."

McCarthy collided, too, with Sen. Republican leader Knowland of California.

Knowland told McCarthy he objected to the original resolution and would object to any amendment or substitute.

Scientists Hint U.S. Has Cheaper, Deadlier A-Bomb

CHICAGO (P) — Chicago area atomic scientists speculated Wednesday that the United States has a new, more powerful and cheaper atomic bomb.

Members of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago released a statement to that effect at a luncheon on the University of Chicago campus.

"Scientists have suggested," the statement said, "that the hydrogen bomb detonated in the Pacific in March of 1954 was actually a new device—a hydrogen-uranium bomb yielding thousands of times the radioactivity produced by the atomic bombs tested in Nevada, or by a simple hydrogen bomb."

The statement added that a speech made at the University of Chicago June 3 by Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, was "the first major speech to give sufficient information supporting this hypothesis."

The scientists said Libby's speech indicated that "ordinary, cheap uranium" was the major explosive content of the Pacific bomb.

The statement said, "The significance of this is held to be enormous. To physicists it means that Russia or any other country able to make ordinary atomic bomb can with little effort create super weapons of the megaton (million ton) class."

The Atomic Scientists of Chicago describes itself as an organization of scientists concerned with the impact of science on public affairs.

House Votes Life Pension For Medal Of Honor Winners

WASHINGTON (P) — Voicing praise for winners of the Medal of Honor, the House whisked to passage Wednesday a bill to give each of them $100 a month for life. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The measure started off as a relief bill—opposed by the Eisenhower administration—when House Veterans Affairs committee members heard that "several" of the 395 living holders of the nation's top military award had gone on public welfare rolls.

The medal winners now get $10 a month after age 65, provided they aren't receiving military retirement payments. Twenty-six of them are being paid the $10.

Rules Secretary Can't Arbitrarily Revoke Licenses

CHICAGO (P) — Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher ruled unconstitutional Wednesday the Illinois law allowing the secretary of state to suspend drivers' licenses without notice or hearing.

On the basis of this ruling, Judge Fisher ordered Secretary of State Charles Carpenter to restore the suspended license of Armando DiPietro, Chicago cab driver.

DiPietro's license was picked up under the code permitting the secretary of state to suspend licenses without notice or hearing after three traffic violation convictions within an 18-month period.

Eugene F. Connely, attorney for DiPietro's employer, the American-United Cab Co., argued that the law illegally delegates judicial and legislative powers to the secretary of state. He said this violates due process of law clauses in both state and federal constitutions.

Judge Fisher gave Asst. Atty. Gen. William Wines 20 days to appeal the ruling.

Italian Cabinet Quits After Wide Party Rift

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME — A Rightist minority in his own Christian Democrat party forced pro-Western Premier Mario Scelba to resign Wednesday and plunged Italy into a governmental crisis.

The resignation came just two months after Scelba made a triumphal tour of the United States in which he was received by President Eisenhower and hailed by thousands of Italian-Americans as a stout friend of the United States.

It was a bitter day for the little Sicilian who has become known as Italy's leading postwar foe of communism.

After long and futile efforts to avert the crisis by reshuffling his center bloc - coalition Cabinet, Scelba gave up trying to close rifts in his own Christian Democrat party ranks.

He was obliged to notify President Giovanni Gronchi, member of the Leftist branch of the Christian Democrats, that his Cabinet could not continue in office. Scelba had opposed the Communist-supported Gronchi's election last April.

Following the usual routine of Italian government crises, Gronchi asked Scelba and his ministers to remain at their posts while a solution is sought.

The President then scheduled a series of conferences with Italian political leaders preparatory to asking one of them to try to form a new government.

Scelba's position suddenly weakened Tuesday night when the Christian Democrat party directorate declared in an official communique that it did not consider his Cabinet reshuffle an adequate means of reconstituting the Democratic coalition.

In a final Cabinet meeting Wednesday that lasted three hours, Scelba and his ministers made their decision.

Begin Laying Of 1st Atlantic Phone Cable

CLARENVILLE, Nfld. (P) — The laying of the world's first trans-oceanic telephone cable started Wednesday. It is to stretch from this rugged fishing village across the Atlantic's floor to Oban, Scotland.

The Clarenville end of the cable, which will span 2,250 statute miles, was christened with sea water from Heart's Content Bay, site of the first successful Atlantic telegraph cable landing near here in 1866.

The 8,050-ton British ship Monarch, spinning the cable slowly out of her huge tanks, will reach Oban by the end of the summer, completing the west-to-east under-sea telephone system.

This will link New York directly with London and add 36 extra telephone circuits to the present over-seas shortwave radio system of 14 circuits, all dependent on weather.

A second cable will be laid next summer from Scotland to New Zealand.

The over-all system, a 40 million dollar joint undertaking by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the British Post Office, which operates the telephones in Britain, and the Canadian Overseas Telecommunications Corp., is expected to be in service by late 1956.

Eighteen telegraph cables now span the Atlantic. The new telephone cable marks the most important advance in international communications since 1927, when the first transatlantic telephonic service was established via radio. It will lie well north of the telegraph cables, but out of the iceberg zone.

Seeks Damages From Physician
A suit asking $50,000 was filed Tuesday in Morgan county circuit court by Roy W. Benton against Dr. Vincent Lenth of this city. The plaintiff stated that on Feb. 18, 1953, he suffered a fracture of his right leg, and was under the care of the local physician. He recited the details of an operation in which metal screws and pins were used, he said. Alleging that infection later developed, the plaintiff set forth that on Sept. 24, 1954, the leg was amputated. Wiseman and Mondhink of Alton, Ill., are attorneys for Benton.

Father Of 13 Sent To Prison; Broke Probation
The father of 13 children must serve from one to three years in the penitentiary because he wouldn't profit by the breaks a lenient court had given him previously. Max Elliott, 35, of Winchester route 3, was sentenced in Morgan county circuit court Wednesday morning by Judge L. E. Wilhite, for violating terms of probation. Elliott, described as "a good worker" when sober, formerly lived in the Jacksonville community. His court record started when he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery in April, 1954, and was admitted to probation for five years on that and a concurrently similar case. Several months ago the defendant was picked up and warned that if he did not comply with terms of probation about drinking, his probation would be revoked.

On June 11 State's Attorney Hall filed a motion to terminate probation in the case, after a charge of drunken driving had been lodged against Elliott, who was hunted by state police. The defendant was captured in Jacksonville by Police Officers Hill and Brune, his car having been found in a restricted zone. Charles Murphy, 33, of Beesley avenue was admitted to probation for two years on a forgery charge, a plea of guilty having been entered one week ago. Judge Wilhite appointed Attorney Robert Bradney, public defender, to represent Dale McEvers of this city, who pleaded innocent to a charge of burglary. The case has not yet been docketed for hearing.

Illinois House Passes City, State Tax Bills; Measures To Governor
By ROGER LANE
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P) — The city and state sales tax bills, core of the Stratton-Daley revenue program, passed the Illinois House Wednesday. The measures were dispatched to the desk of the governor whose enacting signature was regarded as a mere formality. Together, they will mean a sales tax of three cents on the dollar after July 1 for residents of Chicago, and probably of some downstate cities. The House, after an hour's debate on the Senate-approved measure, voted 82 to 64 to lift the referendum requirement out of a 1947 statute authorizing cities to impose a half-cent local sales levy. The bill would permit the tax by council action only. By a wider 87 to 58 margin, speedier approval was given for a hike on the present state sales tax, making it 2½ cents on the dollar for two years starting the first of next month. The House also passed, and routed to the Senate for concurrence in amendments, the so-called "use" tax bill to apply the increased state sales tax to out-of-state purchases by Illinoisans. A fourth element in the bipartisan revenue package worked out by Gov. Stratton, a Republican, and Democratic Mayor Daley of Chicago will come up for a vote by the House later in the week. This measure would permit cities to place a tax up to 5 percent on gross receipts of public utilities rendering gas, electric, telephone and telegraph services. The governor demanded the state sales tax boost, which will swell state income by an estimated 50 million dollars a year, to support recommended increases in spending for school and welfare purposes. The city bill was sought by Daley as a means to help raise an additional 34 million dollars a year he says Chicago needs for an increase in fire and police forces, improved garbage collection and other services. It will provide about two third of this amount. Under the plan, the State Revenue Department would administer the local tax, collecting liabilities accrued by retailers along with state tax funds and then rebating the city's share in monthly installments after deductions for costs of administration. Rep. John W. Lewis of Marshall, Stratton's House leader, said the city bill was "permissive" legislation that cities could take advantage of or not, as their officials chose. Downstaters, Republicans and Democrats alike, spearheaded the opposition. They contended that "trade barriers" would result from the local tax, and said the people were being deprived of their right to speak out in a referendum. In the last eight years eight attempts in downstate cities to put on the local sales tax have been thwarted by voter disapproval. The bulk of support for the city bill came from representatives of the Chicago area. They were joined by a scattering of downstaters. Forty-six Democrats and 36 Republicans backed the measure. The same general voting pattern put over the state sales tax bill. Lewis, again leading the fight, said the extra revenue was necessary to pay higher school aid and welfare costs. Other lawmakers said they didn't like to vote for the bill but saw no alternative.

Start New Phase Of Theatrics In Strollers Group
The Jacksonville amateur theatrical group—better known as The Strollers—initiated a new series of program ideas known as the Green Room activities, with a picnic supper at the home of the president, Dr. Robert Alexander. The purpose of The Strollers is to present a play for children during the year, which has been done with a great deal of success for the past three years. They have taken their plays to communities outside of Jacksonville for presentation. The idea of the Green Room activities is to develop any and all talent interest the members may have in all phases of dramatic interpretation and activities including staging, make up, and directing. Every member will be given an opportunity in the activity in which they're most interested. For the first part of the program of the new Green Room activities those present were divided into groups—each group being assigned to a comedy plot which they were to interpret and present as a pantomime during the evening. A great deal of fun was had interpreting the old time comedy situations. For the more serious portion of the program Mrs. Betty Applebee and Hugh Jones presented readings from the plays "Waiting for Lefty" by Kaufman and "Joan of Arc" by Shaw. The readings were very effectively combined into a plot where a newspaper editor brings to life the full meaning of the editorials that could have been written about the two situations—the trial of Joan of Arc, and the depression of the 30's. The presentation, complete with impromptu stage and lighting, was most effective and thoroughly enjoyed by those present. A portion of the evening was spent discussing ideas for future activities, such as presenting readings from plays, workshops on staging and make up, attending plays, and having cast parties after the presentation of the children's play. Members of the organization will volunteer to take part in future programs and will also contribute ideas for the Green Room activities. Anyone interested in being a member of Strollers may contact Mrs. Robert A. Pay, 932 West Douglas avenue.

Dr. Chas. Frank New President Of YMCA Board
A meeting of the retiring and incoming officers of the YMCA and board members, their husbands and wives was held in June to conclude activities for this season until September. Routine reports were heard and members of the executive board who will retire were asked to stand. Of the eight whose terms expire four were re-elected for another term. They are Mrs. Karl Baker, Mrs. E. C. Bone, Leslie Heuston and Gordon Walker. The 1955-56 officers are: Dr. Charles Frank, president; Oliver Buck, vice president; Darrow Steinheimer, secretary, and Robert Hemphill, treasurer. The new president, Dr. Frank, has announced the following to serve as chairman of the following eight committees within the board: operations, E. Applebee, Dr. Joseph Baus, Dr. Louis Belinson, Miss Grace Fitch, Mrs. C. L. Kanatzer, Thomas Kline, Mrs. C. G. Maes and Darrow Steinheimer. After leaving Jacksonville the Idaho family went to Louisville to visit a sister of Mr. Ferguson and on to Washington, D. A-BOATING THEY WILL GO

WHAT DO swim stars do when they get a vacation? They go swimming, naturally, as witness the case of those famous Aquamaids of Cypress Gardens, Fla. They just happened to be vacationing at Daytona Beach, and just happened to bring along their own inflatable boats and a photographer just happened along to snap them in the process. So, they sent photos to us and we happened to like them—"so there you are."

Some of the lovely Aquamaids carry their rubber boats to the beach and plunge in.

The going seems to be rugged here, but the girls just laugh it off. They're used to it.

Now the whole gang's out here. Wish you could join them for a din in the Florida sun.

Church Groups, Producers Clash Over Charges Of 'Smut' In Films

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is Hollywood injecting needless smut into its handling of such themes as sex and brutality? Or is it that the movies are simply becoming more realistic and grown-up?

The powerful Roman Catholic Legion of Decency has blasted what it calls movie material "gravely offensive to the moral law." Similar sentiment is sounded in Protestant church councils.

But the movie industry, as reflected by its own Production Code, maintains that the recent relaxing of restrictions was done with a keen ear to public opinion. Some top industry figures hold that the movies are still too timid.

The Legion of Decency and the Production Code are the most powerful censorship groups in the field, and an explosive crisis may result from the divergence of their views. There are some indications that a crisis has already arrived. For example:

Howard Hughes got Code approval for "Son of Sinbad" while the Legion condemned it, even after re-editing. Much of the Legion's objection is directed at the dancing of Lili St. Cyr, burlesque and nightclub striptease.

The Legion's threatened boycott caused a downtown Los Angeles theater to cancel the picture before a scheduled June opening.

Four recent pictures which got Code okay were recut after Legion protests. They were: "Battle Cry," "Three for the Show," "Kiss Me Deadly" and "The Prodigal," the latter based on a Biblical parable.

Producers respect the Legion's effect on the box office. Hollywood gets most of its money from a picture in the big city first runs. That's where Catholic population is heaviest.

Protestant groups, which may differ with the Catholics on theological issues, generally agree with the Legion's moral policing of movies.

The Legion of Decency represents more than 30 million churchgoers while the Protestant Motion Picture Council represents another 48 million.

That's a lot of ticket sales—or rejections.

Nevertheless, few will argue with the fact that the movies today are undertaking — and getting away with — scenes and themes they would not have been permitted to handle a few years ago.

A sample is "Mr. Roberts." The movie version loses little of the bawdy humor that made it a best-selling book and stage hit.

One scene where Roberts and the ship's doctor make their own brand of scotch to help Ensign Pulver seduce a Navy nurse leaves nothing to the imagination.

In "Love Me or Leave Me," the story of singer Ruth Etting, there is a rapaciously graphic bedroom scene the movies wouldn't have tried a few years back. It's made even more potent by the fact that Doris Day, heretofore the movies' all-American girl, plays a sexy role for the first time.

Rivalling sex as a target of movie criticism is a current cycle of movies stressing brutality. Probably the most shockingly brutal movie ever made is the current "Blackboard Jungle."

It has such scenes as the near-rape of a pretty teacher by one of the pupils on school property; a classroom knife fight between a dope crazed student and the teacher; a poison pen campaign intended to break up the teacher's marriage, this done by a pupil, too; the brutal beating of two teachers by their pupils and a complete breakdown of classroom discipline.

The picture is cleaning up at the boxoffice. A check of exhibitors' disclosures that it is pulling much repeat business from teenagers. A few weeks ago, a large scale youth gang fight broke out at a Burbank, Calif., drive-in theater after a midnight showing of the movie.

Police and others said it was more than coincidence that the fight came upon the heels of similar violence on screen.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency, has asked the Motion Picture Assn. to send his probers pressbooks on "Son of Sinbad" and "Blackboard Jungle."

Presumably, the senators want to look at the advertising pitch on these pictures. If the subcommittee digs deeper, and is displeased, Hollywood could be hurt.

Final Honors Announced At Illinois College

Scholastic honors awarded to students of Jacksonville and the surrounding area during commencement week have been released by Illinois College. They are as follows:

FINAL HONORS—in recognition of high scholarship for the entire course:

Lowell Sibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Sibert, 442 S. Main St., a graduate of Jacksonville High School.

Dovie Sooy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Sooy, 226 S. Church, a graduate of Jacksonville High School.

John William Bostic, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bostic, R.R., Waverly, a graduate of the Waverly High School.

CLASS HONORS — to the two highest ranking students for the year from each class:

Freshman Class: Robert Marsh Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarendon Smith, 503 E. College, a graduate of Jacksonville High School.

David M. Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marie B. Hart, 1631 Lakeview Drive, Jacksonville, formerly of Franklin, and a graduate of the Franklin High School.

RAMMELKAMP SCHOLARSHIP — awarded to the highest ranking student of each class:

Freshman Class: Robert Marsh Smith.

In recognition of their scholastic records which showed marked attainment and promise, Lowell Sibert and Dovie Sooy were among the four elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the highest scholastic distinction which an undergraduate can receive.

FOAMING MENACE — CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—D-D, the pet parakeet of John Gibbons, drowned his sorrows. A glass of beer caught his fancy. He perched on the rim, dipped his beak into the foam for a nip and fell into the glass.

Gibbons rescued the drenched bird but D-D was found dead on the floor of his cage next morning.

It took the movies many years and many millions of dollars to weather the stiff punch that the House Un-American Activities Committee threw in its investigation of communism in Hollywood.

Some taste violations, especially in costume, can't be blamed on the producer. A number of female stars, mostly those with a sex appeal build-up, wait until just that second or two before the director yells "action." Then, they pull their bodice down to display more than the law allows. Sometimes they get away with it. Sometimes the scenes are chopped out or there are expensive retakes.

Two top feminine stars, one of them an Academy Award winner, are notorious for open-mouthed kissing in intimate love scenes. It's cost both of them many a good closeup shot.

Of late, there has been a growing movement to get exhibitors to play certain pictures to adult audiences only. It is the custom in many European countries.

But the theater managers won't go for it. One San Fernando Valley exhibitor tells why.

"Most exhibitors would starve to death if it weren't for the kid and teen-age crowd. They buy the popcorn and candy and they come to the show whether it's an Oscar winner or a stinker."

"I tell the Hollywood friends I know: give us more family pictures, the hell with all that rape and violence."

Misses Groves Entertain Circle Of Grace Church

Members of Circle Hannah of Grace Methodist church met with the Misses Irene and Leta Groves, 1301 Mound, Tuesday evening, for a potluck supper and final business meeting of the season. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Carl Morrison and Mrs. Mildred Bieber.

Following a delicious supper, the newly-elected chairman, Mrs. John Murray, called the meeting to order, opening with prayer, followed by the secretary's report and the treasurer's report. Miss Leta Groves, treasurer, reported that 1108 Rubber Scrubbers had been sold to date.

The following committees were appointed by the chairman: Program, Miss Melva Moses, chairman; Mrs. Flora Knowles and Mrs. Harry Timmons; Ways and Means, Miss Lena Hopper, chairman; Mrs. Carl Morrison, Miss Leta Groves, and Mrs. Maude Reid; calling committee, Miss Leta Groves, Mrs. Anne Knowles, Mrs. Edna Moss and Mrs. Harry Timmons. Representative to WSCS Christian Social Relations Committee: Miss Nell Day. Publicity: Miss Dorothy L. Rinne.

The circle members agreed to be responsible for furnishing flowers for the Sunday worship services during the month of July. It was also voted to dispense with the June meeting in the future. It was planned that as a project for the coming year, each member would invest one dollar in such a way as to make it grow, turning over her proceeds at the end of the project.

The meeting closed with an expression of welcome to the new chairman, Mrs. Murray, and remarks by the pastor, Dr. Frank Marston, who spoke briefly on the scripture: "Work while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work." The regular monthly meetings will be resumed in September.

HOBBY EXPERT — COOPERSVILLE, Mich. (AP)—The Rev. J. Lawrence Ward's hobby is collecting things. He has weed seeds, alligator eggs, rough and polished rocks, Indian relics, birds' eggs, old and new coins, minerals, stamps, butterflies, moths, spiders, beetles, buttons, matchbook covers, milk bottle caps, antique dishes, poster stamps, sea shells, music, and bird feathers. In addition he's a bird bander.

The clergyman recommends weed collecting as a beginning hobby—it's cheap and free government pamphlets are available to help in classifying.

ANCIENT STILL

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—Sheriff Harve Steele has found that moonshine still which vanished 37 years ago. When Steele spotted the still during his first term in office in 1918, he left it unmolested in hopes of catching the moonshiners. But when he returned to the wooded area the next day, the still had vanished.

The 84-year-old sheriff was sitting in his office recently when deputies brought in a still. It was the same elaborate one Steele had remembered all these years. The moonshiners still weren't around.

Installation Sunday For Bluffs Lutheran Pastor

BLUFFS—The installation service of Rev. Karl Kuskevics as the pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church in Bluffs will be held on Sunday, June 26, at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Harmon McGuire, D.D., president of the Illinois Synod of the United Lutheran Church will be the preacher and the Rev. H. Peterson, president of the Central Conference, the liturgist.

Following the service there will be a reception for Rev. Kuskevics and his mother. All members of the community as well as all visitors are cordially invited to these events.

Rev. Kuskevics was born in Riga, Latvia. Besides high school he attended the Conservatory of Music in Tukums, Latvia, where he also began to act as organist in the local Lutheran church at 14 years of age. As the Soviet forces occupied the country in 1940, his father was arrested and deported to Russia; no news has been received of him since.

In 1944, toward the close of the war, Kuskevics and his mother, Milda Kuskevics, left the country becoming displaced persons in Germany. There he continued his education after the war and attended the Baltic Academy of Music in exile, in Detmold, Germany, and in 1948 was admitted to the University of Goettingen, where he began to study theology. However, after one and one half years, he had to interrupt his studies for lack of funds and began to work with the International Refugee Organization's Training Service for missing people.

Methodist Pastor Befriended
 In 1950 there came the opportunity for him and his mother to emigrate to the United States. A Methodist minister in Kalamazoo, Michigan, through whose care nearly 400 Latvian displaced persons found a new life in this country became his sponsor, and exactly five years ago the Kuskevics entered the United States and settled down in Kalamazoo. There Karl began to attend Kalamazoo College, from which he graduated with the Bachelor of Arts degree cum laude in February, 1953.

During his college time he worked in different factories in Kalamazoo and regularly supplied the pulpit of Cooper Congregational church in Cooper, Michigan. In college, besides majoring in Religion and Philosophy he also continued his music studies in the organ department.

In March 1953 he entered Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota, (affiliated with the Evangelical Church), but in the fall of 1953 transferred to the Chicago Lutheran Seminary (United Lutheran Church in America), from which he graduated this spring with the Bachelor of Divinity degree.

During his seminary career in Chicago he worked as intern in the First Evangelical United Brethren church in Melrose, Illinois, and in Trinity Lutheran church (affiliated with the American Lutheran church), Chicago, as well as supplied several Lutheran pulpits in Michigan, Illinois and St. Louis, Mo. He has also some experience as a member of a Church Council (in the local Latvian Lutheran church in Kalamazoo), and has given talks in several churches, especially about the conditions of Christianity under communism.

SHEEP IN DUCK CLOTHING—An estimated 50,000 New Mexico sheep will be wearing 10-ounce duck jackets on the range next winter. They are the idea of J. R. Stauder, sheep and wool specialist of New Mexico A & M College at State College, N.M., shown demonstrating the garment, above. Last winter he conducted tests on the Victor-Perez ranch near Encino, N.M. Results showed that the fleeces from the jacket-wearing animals contained an average of four pounds each less dirt than the "bare" sheep. Elimination of dirt results in lower shipping charges because freight rates are based on gross weight; lower shearing charges because crews demand bonuses for shearing excessively dirty sheep.

Archie Moore Retains Lighthheavy Crown, KO's Bobo Olson In 3rd

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (P)—Archie Moore gambled a million dollar future and won Wednesday night, destroying middleweight champion Bobo Olson on a knockout in 1:19 of the third round to move into line for a September heavyweight title shot with Rocky Marciano.

The fact that Archie, the 38-year-old ring gypsy, was making the fourth defense of his world light heavyweight title was almost incidental. For Moore had campaigned long and hard for a chance at the heavyweight title and had taken on Olson only to further his ambition.

A murderous right hand punch to the head following a miss by Olson started Bobo on the way out. A smashing left hook to the jaw dropped the balding Hawaiian on the deck for the one and only knockdown of the fight.

As Referee Ruby Goldstein tolled off the count, Olson tried vainly to get to his feet. At the count of 10 he was creeping across the ring, toward his own corner with a queer expression on his sad face, unable to make his legs obey the commands of his brain.

Once he groped to his feet, Olson refused to believe the bout was over. He wanted to square off with Archie as Goldstein intervened.

The end came with a quick explosion on this steaming humid night, for Olson had been giving Archie all he wanted until the old boy lowered the boom.

It was only the second time Olson had been knocked out in his 70-bout career and his first defeat after 21 straight victories. Sugar

Dodgers Move Ahead By 13, Nip Cubs 3-2

CHICAGO (P)—Although out of first-place Brooklyn scored an unearned run in the eighth for a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. The Dodger triumph moved Brooklyn 13 games ahead of the second-place Cubs.

The Dodgers nudged across an unearned run in the eighth for their victory margin.

Rube Walker homered with none aboard for Brooklyn in the fifth.

Dodger pitcher Russ Meyer, who has a 22-3 lifetime record against the Cubs, had to quit because of a stiff neck in the sixth and the victory went to the third Brooklyn pitcher, Ed Rebeck.

Hal Jeffcoat blew his chance for a relief victory with a bad throw which helped Brooklyn to the decisive run in the eighth. Jeffcoat had succeeded starter Bob Rush to start the eighth.

The tainted Dodger run came after Pee Wee Reese led off with a single. Duke Snider's attempted sacrifice wound up in a bad peg by Jeffcoat, sending Reese to third. Gil Hodges forced Snider, but Reese scored the big run.

When Ernie Banks slammed his third single in the eighth, Rebeck replaced Jim Hughes and finished for the Dodgers.

Walker's homer made it 2-1 for the Dodgers, but the Cubs came back with their second run in the seventh on Dee Fondy's double and Jim King's pinch single.

Two Former Champions Fall In Amateur Golf

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (P)—The 1955 medalist and two former champions were victims in first round match play Wednesday in the 25th annual State Amateur Golf Tournament over the University of Illinois course.

Dick Correll of Robinson, who won medal honors Tuesday with a 144 total, was defeated 1 up on the 19th hole by Ray Kimpel of Urbana. Correll, a University of Illinois freshman and the only entrant to match par in the qualifying test, staged a great rally to win four of the last five holes, squaring the match on the 18th with a difficult, twisting 15-foot putt.

But on the extra hole Kimpel fired his approach to within five feet of the pin and ran it down for a birdie while Correll's second shot was over the green. He chipped up within two feet but had no chance when Kimpel dropped his putt.

Former champions who were upset were veteran Gus Moreland of Peoria, who was eliminated by Bob Goaly of Belleville, 3 and 2, and Norando Nannini of Highwood who bowed 5 and 4 to Ralph Snyder of Watseka.

Jim Frisina of Taylorville, the defending champion, won by default when his first round opponent, Don Pauley of Des Plaines, showed up 30 minutes late.

Roberts Posts 10th Win; Phils Trip Cardinals 9-6

ST. LOUIS (P)—Philadelphia ace Robin Roberts survived a spell of being his own worst enemy with home-run pitches in the early innings Wednesday night and gained his 10th victory as the Phils defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-6.

The Phils had a 14-hit attack, and Roberts was prominent in it. The game was a 5-5 tie after Stan Lopata homered in the sixth for the Phils, and Roberts began a tie-breaking, three-run rally by leading off the seventh inning with a double.

A single by Richie Ashburn, an intentional walk to Granny Hamner and singles by Del Ennis and Lopata figured in the seventh-inning rally by the Phils.

Stan Musial had three hits good for a total of 11 bases and was the biggest problem Roberts had in a shaky start. Musial homered with a man on base to start the Cards to four runs in their first inning. Red Schoendienst and Rip Repulski hit successive homers in the inning. Musial led off the third inning with a homer, and led off the eighth with a triple, scoring on Repulski's double.

But four singles through the hole into center, climaxed by Willie Jones' bloop double to right, had let the Phils begin with three runs themselves against Cardinal starter Larry Jackson. During the middle innings, Roberts retired 13 consecutive men, all on the infield. Philadelphia 310 001 310—9 14 0
St. Louis 401 000 010—6 10 0

Roberts and Lopata; Jackson, Tienauer (2), LaPalme (7), Lawrence (7), Wright (7), Jones (8) and Burbrink, L—Tienauer.
Home runs—Phil, Lopata, St. Louis, Musial 2, Schoendienst, Repulski.

Giants Edge Redlegs 4-3

CINCINNATI (P)—Hank Thompson and Bobby Hofman homered in the ninth inning Wednesday night to break the longest losing streak of the New York Giants since August 1953 and to lift the New Yorkers to a 4-3 triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The Giants had lost six in a row. Their last previous long losing skein was eight straight in the summer two years ago.

New York 110 000 002—4 10 0

Donovan Hurls White Sox To 3-0 Win Over Nats

WASHINGTON (P)—Dick Donovan posted his fourth shutout and his ninth victory of the season for the Chicago White Sox 3-0 Wednesday night as he held Washington to four hits. It was Donovan's fourth win over the Senators, who have lost 12 of their last 13 games.

Donovan permitted only one runner to advance beyond first base, when Carlos Paula tripled with two out in the eighth inning.

Nelson Fox's 17-game hitting streak expired when the White Sox second baseman went hitless in five tries.

Chicago clipped loser Dean Stone for a run in the second inning when Jim Busby tripled to right and scored on Walt Dropp's single.

The White Sox added a run in the fourth when Sherman Lollar walked, moved to second on a wild pitch, to third on Busby's sacrifice bunt and scored on Dropp's sacrifice fly.

Jim Rivera set up the final Chicago run in the eighth when he walked and stole second base. Lollar bunted him to third and Busby got him across with a fly to Johnny Groth in centerfield.

Murrayville Jars Cozy Dogs 5-1

The Murrayville softball club scored five runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Cozy Dogs 5-1 in the softball headline at Nichols Park last night.

Heaton collected two hits for the winners as did Bruce Murphy and Charley Stone.

The four Jacksonville golfers traveling to Champaign to take part in the State Amateur golf tournament failed to qualify. Jim Buckley, a consistent winner on the local courses and a player who has played many rounds on the University of Illinois course, missed qualifying by a single stroke. Buckley fired a 79 the first day and came back with an 82 on the final 18-holes. His 162 total was one stroke above the qualifying mark of 161.

Joe Doyle fired a 165, E. P. Hohman had a 164 and Doctor Jim Bunch had a 172. Had Doyle or Hohman duplicated their opening day scores of 80 they would have been among the qualifiers.

Buckley, not one to make excuses, wasn't too disappointed with his play. He said it was a little windy Tuesday and he and the other three Jacksonville golfers were among the last to play and the greens were pretty well beat up by then. However, the course as a whole was in good shape and Jim said he didn't have too many bad holes. Scores were exceptionally high this year.

However we do know of one stroke Jim lost that would have made the difference. Buckley's approach shot on the 9th green on his final round buried in the soft part of the putting surface some 25 feet from the pin. The ball was so deep only four dimples showed. He summoned the USGA officials and they informed him he must play it. Jim used a wedge to get out and wrecked a foot-long strip of sod in the process. (Officials value the greens at $18,000). The rule was changed later.

Jim's wedge shot fell some seven feet from the pin and he missed his next putt. Had he been able to putt when he first arrived on the green he would have undoubtedly two-putted the green and cut one stroke off his final 162 total. Now for the Park Open.

The local baseball move is rapidly gaining support and it won't be too long before the uniforms are ordered. Collections are being made by Walt McEvers. Several local players have expressed a desire to be on the team. Among the most recent to sign up is Gene Farmer who did his hurling for the IC team this past spring. Another pitcher who may do some hurling for the local nine is Bill Williams who just returned from the Texas League.

Rex Hazelrigg allowed just two hits as he hurled the United Commercial Travelers to a 4-2 win over the American Legion nine in the first Colt League baseball game ever played in Jacksonville. Last night's game at the Nichols Park diamond was the opening game of the year for the 45-16 year old baseball teams.

Hazelrigg in registering the win didn't allow a safety until the sixth inning.

Jack Long was the losing pitcher. The Legion hurler gave up just three hits.

Travelers Edge Legion 4-2 In Colt Action

NEW YORK (P)—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight boxing champions will meet again in Chicago's Soldier Field. That's where Tunney defeated Dempsey before 104,943 spectators Sept. 22, 1927, in the famed battle of the long count.

This time they will appear July 13 before an expected 90,000 Shriners. They will shake hands on the spot where the 1927 ring was erected.

Dempsey, Tunney Meet Again

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England (P)—A risky young American with a grin like Huckleberry Finn scored an upset over ailing Davis copper Vic Seixas in the second round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Wednesday.

Seixas, 31-year-old Philadelphiaan who was seeded third this year, lost in a rugged battle to Gil Regan, cf, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, in the 3-day-old 69th Wimbledon tournament.

Seixas started out as if he would win in three quick sets. But, when he was 5-0 in the first set, he suddenly came down with a sore right shoulder and from then on his usual powerful slashing game sagged lower and lower. He pulled a muscle two weeks ago during a match in Paris.

Vic Seixas Upset In 2nd Round Of Wimbledon Meet

Seixas, winner of the American singles last year and first ranked in the U. S., thus leaves Tony Trabert of Cincinnati as the only Yank Davis Cup player still in competition for this most coveted of tennis crowns.

Trabert won easily from left-handed Trevor Fancutt of South Africa, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. The third American Davis Cup player, Hans Richardson, lost in the opening round.

Beating Seixas gave the 26-year-old Shea his greatest day. He was the coolest man in the crowd, smiled at blunders which were few and winked at the crowd when he hit a good shot.

"Wasn't that something?" he asked after the match. "Old Shea, number 10 in the states, knocks off Mr. No. 1."

Berra Also Sparks As Whitey Ford Registers 8th Win Of Season

NEW YORK (P)—Mickey Mantle hit his 18th home run of the season and Yogi Berra batted in his 45th and 46th runs as southpaw Whitey Ford spaced nine hits to give the New York Yankees an easy 6-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday.

Mantle got the Yankees off to an early 2-0 lead with his homer in the third inning following a walk to Gil McDougald.

Berra drove in two mates with a bases-loaded single in the seventh when the Yanks rose up with a four-run outburst that shelved starter Art Ditmar and reliever Lou Sletner from the mound.

The A's scored their lone run in the eighth.

Joe DeMaestri opened with a double and Bill Renna walked. Gou Zernial got an infield single to load the bases but third baseman Andy Carey turned Bill Wilson's grounder into a double play as DeMaestri scored.

Red Sox' 3 Homers Tame Tigers 12-7; Williams Stars

BOSTON (P)—Home runs by Norm Zauchin, Jim Piersall and Sammy White and three doubles by Ted Williams sparked the Boston Red Sox to a 12-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday. Ray Boone and Al Kaline homered for the losers, Kaline belting a pair.

The rampaging Red Sox thus moved within one game of the fourth-place Tigers. The victory was the 13th in the last 15 games for Boston.

Sox starter Tom Brewer and reliever Leo Kiely were nailed for 15 hits.

Williams' timely doubles drove in two runs and put Ted in position to score two more as he raised his batting average to .378.

Zauchin's homer accounted for three runs while Piersall's and White's came with the bases empty.

Detroit got to Brewer in the fourth as Earl Torgeson doubled and scored on Jim Delensing's single. Boone followed with his home run.

In the sixth Kaline, the American League's leading batsman, walloped a pitch into the left field screen behind singles by Fred Hatton and Bill Tuttle. That chased Brewer and brought in Kiely.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. government bonds closed slightly lower Wednesday. The corporate bond market was steady.

Treasury liens started higher but gains diminished as the session progressed until by the close, prices were unchanged to lower.

Big Board volume declined to $4,413,000 par value from $4,810,000 Tuesday. Convertible obligations were the most active part of the corporate list, but they were irregular. Investment quality liens fluctuated narrowly. There were few changes of a point or more.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced Wednesday, but the burden of the rise rested on the railroads.

The rails forged into new high ground, and the rest of the market went right along with them.

Near the close, profit taking appeared, but the railroads stoutly resisted the selloff. Other areas of the market fell back from their best.

The list had gains running to around $3 and losses to between $1 and $2 in key divisions.

The major motors were up along with the airlines, movie issues, and a long list of individual issues.

Most major divisions were a mixture of gains and losses with the plus signs usually holding a slight edge.

Aircrafts, however, were lower, and the utilities were down on balance.

The railroads have lagged behind the rest of the market for several weeks. Brokers have felt that the rails would have to display a lot of strength before the market's recent general advance could be considered on a firm foundation.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 90 cents at $172.50, the 10th new record high scored in the last 13 sessions.

The railroads component was up $2.60 at a new high since 1929 of $130.10. Industrials were ahead 30 cents at a new high of $236.10 while utilities lost 20 cents at $73.20.

Volume expanded to 3,010,000 shares against 2,720,000 shares traded Tuesday.

The American Stock Exchange was rather mixed on volume of 970,000 shares compared with 1,100,000 Tuesday.

Grains At Virtual Standstill On Board Wednesday

By LAWRENCE ELDRED
CHICAGO (AP)—Grains were at a virtual standstill during most of Wednesday's session on the Board of Trade. Moderate profit taking entered wheat toward the close, against the trend at Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Soybeans were under pressure from the start but resisted well. Soybean oil was off as much as 20 cents and bean meal as much as 45 cents, although both markets have been firm recently until this week.

Lard also suffered reflective action. Hogs fell as much as 75 cents a hundred pounds as the country overloaded the market with an expanded supply.

Wheat closed 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher, corn was unchanged to 1/4 lower, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, and rye unchanged to 1/4 lower. Soybeans were 1/4-1 1/4 cents less and lard 13 to 30 cents under previous closes.

Improvement in the quality outlook for Kansas wheat helped ease the trade in futures. It appeared more of the crop would be of deliverable and storage quality than had appeared from reports of the Oklahoma crop last week.

The Weather Bureau said dry weather is giving Illinois farmers a chance to start spraying operations in corn. A bureau bulletin said there is heavy corn borer infestation in the state.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—An extra 1,500 hogs knocked as much as 75 cents a hundredweight off prices Wednesday. This was a steep reversal of a rise which amounted to nearly $3 in two weeks.

Most sales of barrows and gilts as well as sows were 25 to 50 cents off. Butcher weights generally brought $18.50 to $21.75. Several decks earned the market top of $22.00. Sows usually made $14.25 to $18.00 but a few choice lights went to $18.50 while heavies were as low as $13.00.

Shippers bought 2,800 of the 9,500 hogs on sale. There also were 12,000 cattle, 400 calves and 1,000 sheep in sellers' hands as trading started.

For cattle the trade was steady to 25 cents higher and for sheep steady to $1.00 up. Steers ranged downward from $25.50 and heifers from $24.35. Good feed cows brought $15.00, commercial bulls $16.75 and vealers $23.00 as best prices. The latter price was for a few prime offerings.

Trading in sheep was moderately active at steady to 50 cents lower values. Spring lambs were $25.00 and below. Three decks of good and choice shorn lambs managed $19.00 and under and choice ewes were $5.50 downward.

Despite the handicap of unusually cool weather the first course in swimming lessons sponsored jointly by the YMCA and the Red Cross was completed Saturday most successfully.

The second course started June 20 and will continue through July 1. For those interested adults and children there is still time to obtain an entry blank available at any time during the day at the YMCA Youth Center on West State street. Il To Represent U.S. On Tour Of Russ Farm Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eleven farmers or agricultural experts have been chosen to represent the United States on a tour of farm districts in Russia.

They will be part of an exchange program under which a Russian group also will visit this country to observe farm methods.

The idea springs from an editorial in the Des Moines Register suggesting that Russian farmers should get a first-hand look at Iowa's famed method of raising corn and hogs.

Rep. Taille (R-Iowa) said the American group will number 12, but only 11 have been selected so far. He told a reporter that 6 of the 12 are Iowans. One man each was picked from Nebraska, Washington, Ohio, Arizona and Idaho.

The group will visit Russia between July 15 and Aug. 15. The Russian farm delegation will visit this country afterward, primarily to visit Iowa.

Forecasts 3 To 5 Per Cent Rise In Furniture Prices

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of the National Retail Furniture Assn. Wednesday forecast an increase of from 3 to 5 per cent in retail furniture prices.

W. Earl Kimbrell of Charlotte, N. C., told a news conference increased manufacturers' costs were the cause of the expected price boost.

However, Kimbrell and two other association officials said they anticipate a "very strong" closing six-months business in the furniture field during 1955. Their estimates ran from 8 to 12 per cent higher than sales in 1954.

Appearing with Kimbrell were F. R. Houlihan of Cambridge, Mass., vice president, and Harold Robinson of Detroit, an association director.

They are in Chicago for the summer session of the International Furniture Market during which new merchandise is displayed to buyers and merchandisers. It is not open to the public. The merchandise will be on display in retail stores this fall and winter.

Bill To Create Assistance Unit Fails In House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A bill sought by Gov. Stratton to create a state department of public assistance failed by one vote to gain approval Wednesday in the Illinois House.

Postponement of the roll call kept the measure alive for a future attempt at passage.

The proposed department would replace the Illinois Public Aid Commission which handles the old age, blind, aid to dependent children, relief and disability programs.

Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna and some other Democrats objected that the bill would mean a minority political party would have no representation as it has on the commission.

The House passed and referred to the Senate a bill prohibiting the sale of comic books and other publications featuring crime, sex or violence to youngsters under 18. Also approved and advanced to the Senate was a series of bills creating a division of safety inspection and education in the State Labor Department.

The House defeated a measure to bring state employees under the Unemployment Compensation Act.

Congress Group Agrees On 7 1/2 Per Cent Wage Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House negotiators Wednesday agreed on a 7 1/2 per cent pay raise for government workers. Leaders of both parties predicted speedy approval by Congress and the President.

As agreed on by a conference committee, the increase would be made effective as of last March 1. It would apply to 107,262 federal employees, all but 90,205 of them in the classified Civil Service. The remainder are mainly congressional, judicial and foreign service workers.

After months of battling around the pay tables adopted in conference were just about the same as those voted by the House on Monday. They work out to within a few dollars of an across-the-board 7 1/2 per cent raise and create a salary range from $2,690 to $14,800 in the general Civil Service schedule.

All told, the increases will add about 328 million dollars to the government's $4,350,000 payroll for covered employees.

The Eisenhower administration originally had recommended a 5 per cent Civil Service boost. Congressional sources said the President was likely to accept 7 1/2 per cent—but no more. Eisenhower wound up recently approving a Post Office increase higher than he was at one time represented as willing to go.

The Senate previously had passed a bill calling for a 10 per cent Civil Service raise.

NEW YORK (AP)—General Cable Corp. announced Wednesday that it plans to build a telephone cable plant at Monticello, Ill. The new plant will occupy some 50,000 square feet.

"This new manufacturing facility will increase general cable's production of paper telephone cable by approximately 25 per cent," said MacDonald. He said initial plant facilities will be completed by November and in full operation by the end of the year.

Work of installing the automatic equipment in the modern and spacious building on West Beecher avenue is progressing satisfactorily with a large force of experts working five days a week. Most of the equipment has been received, but much work must be done before the plant will be ready for operation.

3300 Customers On Lines
A large force of men is at work installing dials in telephones throughout the city. This requires much time as the company has approximately 3300 subscribers.

On the second floor of the new building is the large room for the automatic equipment. A force of 14 men is busy handling the mass of wires which are carried into the building by six underground cables. Each cable contains 2424 lines and thousands of wires must be spliced in to complete the setup for the automatic equipment.

It is estimated that approximately 1,000,000 wires will have to be connected and soldered before the plant is ready for service.

John Young of Oswego, Ill., with the Automatic Electric Sales Corporation, installers, is in charge of the work of preparing the automatic equipment. He has a force of 14 men working at the present time but others will be added later.

When the Jacksonville plant is put into operation there will be four exchanges in this area converted to automatic equipment.

Winchester and Bluffs already have automatic service. Litterberry, which is semi-automatic at the present time, will be changed to complete automatic about September.

We Will Be Chestnut
The Jacksonville exchange will be known as Chestnut, Winchester as Pioneer, Bluffs as Plaza and Litterberry, Tucker.

The toll board at the Jacksonville exchange will have 14 positions for toll operations.

The long distance setup is undergoing many changes. At the present time many cities, such as Chicago, Peoria, Springfield, St. Louis and Bloomington, have reduced the time of putting through long distance calls to Jacksonville. Their operators dial Jacksonville numbers directly without the assistance of the Jacksonville long distance operators.

Mr. Randall said that by 1957, Jacksonville subscribers will be able to dial other cities directly, putting the call through to distant cities without the aid of a toll operator.

Toll Calls Automatic

When the toll ticketing equipment is installed in a special room all calls will be handled automatically. A tape will record the telephone number of the person calling and also the number of the telephone in the city being called. The auditing department will obtain all information about the call from this tape.

When the new directory is printed it will contain a special page of emergency numbers, such as the fire and police departments, sheriff's office and hospitals. These subscribers will be given special numbers, easy to dial.

Before the exchange is put into automatic operation, the Illinois Telephone company plans a publicity campaign to familiarize all subscribers with the working of the automatic telephone.

Fancy Tools Not Necessary To Make Derby Car

Fancy woodworking tools are not necessary in building a winning Soap Box Derby car.

Many champions of the past have built their cars from the simplest tools.

This does not mean that good woodworking tools are to be ignored if they are available. If power tools are available, use them, too. The important thing is to learn how to use the tools carefully and correctly.

Even before you pick up a tool to start construction on your car, plan your car on paper. Draw details for it and make certain they conform to the rules in every way.

The rules permit you to use anything from a hammer and a saw to power tools. Power tools speed up car building, but be sure you understand how to use them safely.

WILDLIFE COULD SHARE IN FUND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wildlife refuges and projects of the states could share in a $13,467,468 federal fund under a bill reported to the Senate Wednesday by its Commerce Committee.

The fund results from federal excise taxes collected from 1939 to 1947 on firearms and ammunition that Congress earmarked for federal aid to wildlife restoration.

States obtain the funds on a matching basis of $1 for each $3 of federal aid. During the eight-year period Congress appropriated less than collected.

The Senate bill would authorize distribution of this over a five-year period on a basis of 20 per cent a year.

Illini Girls Staters Elect Officials For 24 Imaginary Cities

Illini Girls State delegates — 454 high school seniors from all parts of Illinois — Wednesday took the first steps toward organizing the mythical "49th state" which comes to life each summer on the MacMurray College campus.

General elections in each of the imaginary state's 24 cities — the first test of power between the two political parties, Nationalist and Federalist — resulted in a mayor, two aldermen, a city clerk and a city treasurer for each.

The newly elected officials were installed into their positions by Jacksonville alderman Harris Rowe at an evening general session.

Preceding the election, the cities chose individual election clerks and judges.

Following the afternoon balloting, party caucuses were held in each of the state's six "counties" to elect delegates to a state convention.

Governmental organization of the six counties will get underway today, and this evening Dan Brown, Warren County clerk, will address a general assembly of the girls on the functions of state government.

Members of the state general assembly will also be elected today, and will be installed by Warren Wood, speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives, at an evening session.

Illini Girls State is an annual project of the American Legion Auxiliary, designed to teach outstanding high school girls the workings of state government through practical demonstration.

Wheat Quota Debate Rages As June Referendum Date Nears

1st Presbyterian Kindergarten Will Continue In Fall

The Kindergarten of the First Presbyterian church will be continued during the next school year with Miss Ann Tendick again acting as teacher, it has been determined by the church's kindergarten Committee.

The Kindergarten, a new venture for the church last fall, has successfully completed its first year of operation and will be conducted during the next year on the same basis. The school is not limited to children from the First Presbyterian church families, but children of all denominations and faith are welcomed and have been enrolled in the school this year. The committee, of which Mrs. Chester Dobson is chairman, reviewed enrollment policies and curriculum and made no major changes.

Miss Tendick was commended by the committee for the superior level of teaching maintained in the school through the year. Although both four and five-year olds have been enrolled in the school during the past year, the committee decided that five-year olds should have preference for next year, although four-year olds will be accepted if the enrollment is not filled with five-year olds. A limit of 25 children was imposed on the school.

Miss Tendick was assigned the responsibility of enrolling pupils, and she reported that while some enrollments were already in, the limit had not yet been reached.

be able to sell all the wheat I can raise without having to pay a price penalty to the government."

All over the country farmers are debating whether to vote for or against wheat marketing quotas in a June 25 referendum. They are talking much as Lawrence Baunler and John Roberts.

Baumler, 64, is going to vote for quotas. He farms nearly three square miles in North Dakota, which has been the state most emphatically for quotas in two previous elections.

Roberts, 37, will vote the other way. He farms 335 acres, of which 47 are in hard winter wheat, in Illinois—the state which has been the strongest against quotas.

The outcome of the referendum could influence the nation's economy and echo through the 1956 presidential election campaign. If quotas are turned down, adjournment of Congress may be postponed while legislators wrestle with a substitute farm program.

"I don't want to gamble with what I've got. A man should have some security and we need price protection for that," Baumler says.

Baumler has been farming in the northern Great Plains since 1915. He's seen prices boom and he's seen them sink to levels where it was better to burn grain as fuel than sell it.

The marketing quotas for which Baumler will vote limit the amount of wheat a farmer can sell to that produced on whatever acreage is allotted him by the government. If he grows more acreage than his allotment, he must pay a cash penalty to the government when he sells the wheat from the excess acreage.

The purpose of the allotments and the quotas is to reduce production. The country has an enormous surplus of wheat.

For quotas to become effective two thirds of those voting must approve them. If they do, the government will support 1956 crop wheat at 76 per cent of parity. If farmers don't approve, the support will drop to 50 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard set by law, seeking fairly to measure the price of farm products in relation to prices farmers must pay for other goods.

To support such prices, the government gives farmers loans at the going percentage of parity. Grains covered by such loans are put in storage.

If the market value of the grain goes above the value of the loan, the farmer can redeem his crop from the government and sell it. But if the market falls short of the loan value, the farmer keeps the money and the government takes over the grain.

Baumler thinks wheat should be supported at 100 per cent of parity. But he'll take 76 per cent because "I don't want to take a chance on wrecking the whole support program and going back to the old days." Before the New Deal administrations, there were no supports.

Wheat is Baumler's livelihood. But he doesn't think farmers to the east are much concerned.

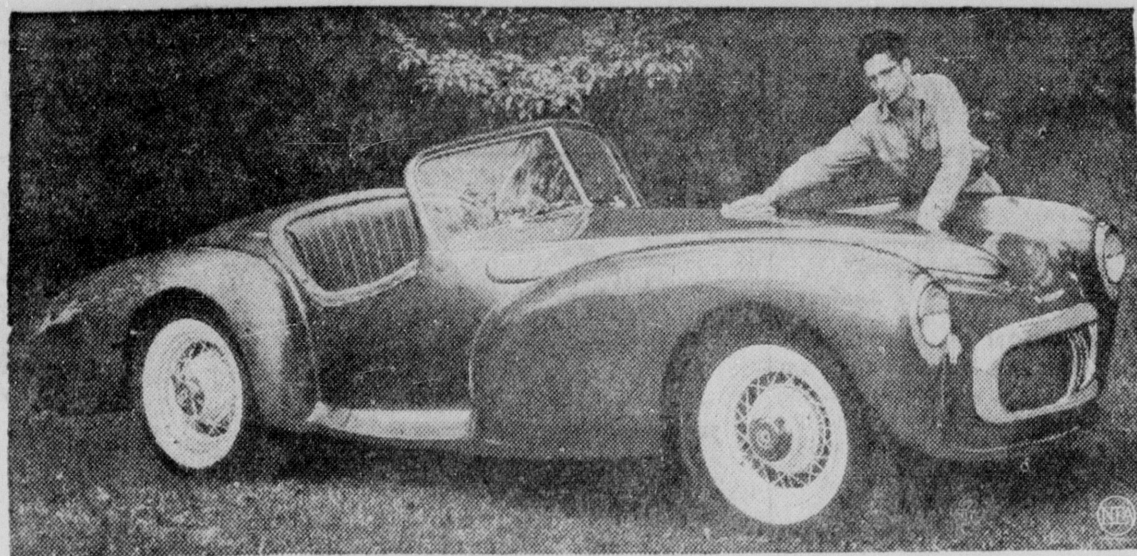

"Farmers in the East don't care about the price of wheat as long as it's low, because they use it for feed," he says. "We raise good bread wheat and depend upon it."

One of those farmers to the east is Roberts. He hasn't had as much personal experience with farming as Baumler, but what he has had has been pretty good. The Roberts family lives well on the rich farmland of central Illinois.

"I have 47 acres in wheat," Roberts says, "and my acreage allotment is 42. I'll have to pay a penalty. Last year I paid $26 an acre for exceeding my allotment."

"I can't store wheat under the government loan because there isn't enough storage room around Pekin (Ill.). I don't want to store it on my farm because of risk of damage. I want to sell my wheat and I don't want to pay a penalty."

BENELUX SETS THE PACE

The great project for the unity of Europe is pressed more earnestly in Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg than anywhere on the continent or in the British Isles. One might wish that the spirit shown by the "Benelux" lands would prove catching.

No one has any right to expect any miracles. Perhaps it is miracle enough that Europe, through such devices as the Benelux customs union, the Coal and Steel Community and the defense collaboration of NATO, has already managed a striking start toward unity.

Certainly Americans have often been too impatient at the seeming slow progress. Encouraged by the fluid political state of many nations in the postwar era, we sometimes have assumed that unity could be achieved almost at a single stroke.

We ourselves would not readily cast aside national patterns in the manner required of Europe. And European countries, of course, are much more firmly in the grip of their national customs and traditions than are we.

Nevertheless, this is a golden opportunity and it is fair to ask that forward-looking statesmen seize it. The economic and political pressures exerted by Russian communism provide a driving force that has not been present before. Under such a threat men can be moved who might otherwise stand fast for long years more.

The Dutch, the Belgians and the Luxembourgers are displaying the kind of positive approach which is best calculated to take advantage of the opportunity.

As Michael Hoffman of the New York Times observes, the key to their progress toward economic union is that they begin any negotiations by assuming that a commonly acceptable solution must be found. They do not start by taking a stout national position from which they will not retreat.

The same cannot be said for others, and particularly France. The first stress always seems to be on the obstacles to action.

But not with the Benelux nations. They are out to show that unified action is feasible. They believe in it and they will not let barriers stand in the way. And, most remarkable of all, they manage a high degree of cooperation without setting up a whole host of new "supranational" agencies.

These three little countries deserve the free world's praise for grasping so eagerly and imaginatively the great chance that now exists to forward the cause of European unity.

LONG VALLEY, N. J. (AP)—It was an ordinary Sunday outside the big cool dairy barn. The dressed up farm people came and went to church. The less dressed up people from the city enjoyed the sunny countryside.

Inside the cool dairy barn it was even more of an ordinary day. Cows have no Sunday. The daily drama of life and death among the herd went on unchanged except for one thing.

There was a young girl present who saw the drama for the first time. The events of the day changed her, I am sure, forever. The three cows involved were numbered 204 and 140 and 129—and the first was old and through, the second was young and having her first calf, and the third was middle-aged and having maybe her third or fourth calf.

No. 204 was at the head of the barn and lying, too weary to get up, at the front of the barn with her head in its stallion. She was 14, very old for a cow. She lay there, unprotestingly, waiting for the slaughterer's truck to come and take her away.

During the morning No. 140, the young heifer, delivered her first calf after a rugged ordeal.

Suddenly it became apparent the middle-aged cow's own ordeal of maternity was at hand. One of the men turned to a young girl, his niece, and said:

"If you're going to get back to the city before the traffic ties you up, you'd better leave now."

"I've never seen anything born before," she said. "I want to stay." "But it may be hours," he said. "You can't tell."

"Just for a little while," she pleaded. "Then I'll be off."

Her uncle and the others left and the young girl was alone in the filtered light of the barn, sweet with the deep rich scent of hay and animal bodies. Old cow No. 204, a factory worn out, glanced at her with the idle and placid noninterest of age.

The young girl knelt beside No. 219. The miracle of approaching birth made the two one. She knelt her fingers and tugged at them tensely in unconscious rhythm with the laboring cow.

"Please," she whispered. "Try again. Harder."

All at once they were three—or almost three. The calf was half-born. Then something was wrong. "Please, please, please!" cried the girl. She heard a noise. Two dairy hands had come into the far end of the dairy barn.

"Quick!" she cried. "The calf is strangling!"

The two men ran up. One grabbed a rope. With it they completed the rough obstetrics of the farm, and the calf was delivered, its forehooves raised to its muzzle in the posture of prayer. The calf lay still.

"But I saw its eyes move," said the girl. "If I could have called you in time..."

The rough workmen looked up at her, puzzled. A calf is $20, more or less, and they come often on a big dairy farm.

"I don't think so," said one of the men, not unkindly. "These things happen, you know."

The young girl got into her car. "But I saw its eyes move," she said, half crying. "If I could have just..."

She turned the car and headed it toward the city. She had seen the sadness of death taking life at the portal of birth, and she would always remember this Sunday, just another ordinary day on a busy farm.

Woman Has the Right to Be More Than 'Just Daughter'

She is 28 years old, unmarried, and still living with Dad and Mother. Her parents like having her with them but she is beginning to see that the years are slipping by. She is spending more and more of her leisure time with her parents and their friends. She is making few friends of her own.

She asks: "Would I be an ungrateful daughter if I told my parents I want to get an apartment of my own? I know they would argue against it, and I am sure they would be hurt to think I would prefer to live alone. But I can't be just a daughter all of my life, can I?"

You could—because some girls are still just daughters when they are middle-aged women. They didn't have the strength and determination to live their own lives.

But it isn't right, or even necessary, for a young woman to settle for being "just a daughter."

MARRIAGE WOULDN'T OFFEND THEM

So don't be afraid to strike out and make a life of your own. Your parents may be hurt momentarily. They will get over it.

And, if they are like most parents, they will in time come to respect you for having broken away and made a life for yourself.

Your parents had to break away from their parents when they married. They undoubtedly would not be hurt if you left them to marry and make a home for your husband.

Though you have no immediate plans for marrying, you still have the right to make a life of your own.

Married or single a grown woman is more than just a daughter. She is an individual who has a right to lead her own life.

Don't give up that right just to please your parents.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is accidental irony that the best hope for peace in the past 10 years—the Big Four meeting next month—lies outside the United Nations which, created to keep peace, is celebrating its 10th birthday.

The U.N. had nothing to do with arranging the Big Four meeting starting in Geneva July 18 among President Eisenhower and the Prime Ministers of Britain, France and Russia.

It is hardly a tribute to the U.N. that the Big Four decided there might be a chance, by talking privately among themselves, of achieving what the U.N. in a decade had been unable to do.

The U.N. has failed in the two biggest problems confronting it since the foreign ministers of its original 51 members signed the charter June 26, 1945, in San Francisco: world disarmament and the elimination of atomic weapons.

What happened in those 10 years? The West and East split into opposing armed camps in a cold war which they used to test each other's mood, strength and determination.

And in that cold war the big powers' representatives in the U.N., although there for the sole purpose of speaking for their governments and to reach solutions, could not find answers to their biggest problems.

Why then, since the governments could speak to one another through the U.N. where all could hear and judge, do the Big Four attempt to get results in a closed-door meeting outside the U.N.?

Perhaps because the big powers, so accustomed in the past to doing business head to head, have not yet advanced to that point in civilization where they can work in an open, parliamentary way through the world's biggest parliament.

To future generations this kind of personal diplomacy, a frank acknowledgment by the big powers that the U.N. isn't quite enough for them, may seem childish and primitive.

That long view may be why the U.N. members celebrating their anniversary at San Francisco this week do not appear downcast. They know where there's life there's hope and the U.N. is still very much alive.

There are many ways to make it. Here is one of the easiest. Brew it in a saucepan. Use 7 tea bags, or 2 teaspoons loose tea for each standard measuring cup of water.

It's just as important with iced tea as it is with hot tea, to use a good fresh tea. You can be sure of fresh tea if you buy tea that is well protected with a sealed wrapping of aluminum foil and then keep it fresh in a tightly closed canister or caddy.

Start out with fresh tea and fresh water, cold from the faucet. Bring the water to a full rolling boil. Take the pan off the heat and put in the tea. Cover and let it stand 5 minutes. Take out the tea bags at once, or if you are using loose tea, strain the tea into a pitcher.

Keep the tea at room temperature until serving time, covered. Never, under any circumstances, put the tea into the refrigerator. If you do, it's likely to cloud. Starved Mexican Children Teach Lesson in Feeding

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Among the most pathetic sights I have ever seen have been infants and small children in hospitals in Mexico and the Middle East who were malnourished to the point of skin and bones. These youngsters were not getting enough food of any kind because their parents were so poor they could not buy enough even to feed their children.

Many of them looked at death's door but many of them in the hospitals where I saw them were brought back to life by giving them an adequate diet. What happened to them when they went home again I do not know.

There are many interesting things about the feeding of infants. It was astonishing to me in Mexico, for example, to learn that the malnourished children mentioned could be restored to good health by giving them food such as beans and corn. These are the kinds of food they would have had at home if they had any at all. They did not need complicated feeding methods or highly refined foods.

FOR THE NEWBORN infant there is nothing which is considered so satisfactory as mother's milk. When such feeding is possible there is no need to argue the value of other methods.

This does not mean, however, that infants cannot grow well and stay healthy if they are fed artificially. Artificial feeding has been carried out successfully many many times. It does mean, however, that if one compared a large group of breast-fed infants with a large group of artificially fed infants, the breast-fed group would gain more and be more healthy on the average than the artificially fed group.

Quality means what kinds of food are given. The starch, fat, protein and mineral needs are excellently supplied in mother's milk.

EVEN THIS, however, is frequently supplemented by giving an infant some orange juice and cod liver oil which supply important vitamins. In the artificially fed children such additional substances besides the milk formula are even more desirable.

Cow's milk which forms the basis of most artificial feeding formulas, is somewhat different from human milk. It contains a larger amount of protein, a smaller amount of sugar and there are some less important differences. When artificial feedings are necessary, however, cow's milk, to which is added sugar in some form, serves as the basis of the formula.

PROTEIN in the form of strained meats has been reported to be valuable for infants in preventing anemia.

The greatest gain in weight is during the first six months when the average infant doubles its birth-weight. During the second half of the first year the weight gain slows down and weaning or removal from bottle feeding is begun.

Knowledge of this is important because starvation of children is not common on the North American continent as it is in many other less fortunate parts of the world.

No other country has as many colleges and universities as we have. In fact the proportion of our young people who go to college here in America today is from five to ten times as large as in the leading nations of Europe.

First Signs Appear Housing Needs Are Being Met

WASHINGTON (NEA)—For the first time in ten years cautious fears are being expressed that maybe too much new housing is being built, instead of not enough.

Federal Reserve Board's monthly "Bulletin" and the Department of Commerce "Business Survey" have just come out with long analyses.

There are no recommendations for out-backs on new home building, nor for tightening credit terms. The facts are just laid out for anyone to read and weep over, if he feels so gloomily inclined.

This sentiment reflects much cautious banking opinion.

"No one is competent to say that the present spread between the formation of households at 600,000 a year and new private housing starts at the rate of 1,400,000 a year is a safe and sound margin," says Homer Livingston, President of American Bankers' Association.

The born optimists in the real estate and home building fields have no such fears about the housing boom collapsing. They are largely supported by government home finance agency heads.

"We regard a high level of housing activity in this country as a good thing," Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole told the Association of Mutual Savings Banks the other day. But he admits that he never had so many different expert opinions to choose from.

CUPID GETS ALL MIXED UP with the statistics. This comes from a declining U. S. marriage rate over the past ten years.

There were a record 2,291,000 marriages in 1946. The figure dropped to 1,991,000 in 1947 and 1,811,000 in 1948. It has been in the 1,600,000 to 1,500,000 bracket from 1949 to 1953.

Last year it was down to 1,475,000. The prospect is that the marriage rate will keep on declining till 1960. This is the result of the lowered birth rates in the depression years from 1930 to 1940.

Here some of the home builders step into the picture to say that it is all wrong to base new housing demand on new family formation rates.

James R. Price, President of National Homes, Corp., Lafayette, Ind., which plans to build 30,000 homes this year, points out that new wedders are poor prospects as house purchasers. They aren't settled and they just don't have the money.

This is supported by a Federal Housing Administration survey of 6500 of its home-buying customers last March. It showed that the average couple buying their first house had been married 10 to 12 years and had several children.

THIS WOULD SUPPORT the theory that many families in the new house market now were couples who were married in the post-war years when marriage rates were at record highs.

The more liberal terms under which both FHA and Veterans' Administration guaranteed mortgages are now available have of course contributed greatly to this housing boom. Perhaps the terms of nothing down and 30 years to pay at 4 1/2 to 5 per cent interest are too liberal, as the mortgage bankers say.

These terms have been tightened recently to the extent of requiring closing costs to be paid cash in advance. But Federal Reserve Board has no authority whatever to control housing credit.

The FHA interest rate can be raised by the Federal Housing Commissioners, but the VA interest rate is set by Congress.

Another factor in the charge that there is too much building today is tied to the vacancy rates. One of the big insurance companies recently estimated that five per cent of the housing units were vacant today.

It predicted the vacancy rate might go to 10 per cent by 1960 if present building rates continue.

U. S. CENSUS BUREAU is making a sample survey on vacancies, which will be completed this month. FHA field offices report a spotty vacancy rate. The remedy FHA suggests is local action—as in Dallas—to cut down on speculative building until the vacancy rate is lowered.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Liberace has met the challenge of big-screen movies, kissing scenes and all.

So far in his professional career, the candelabra king hasn't been allowed much more affection than kissing his mother on the forehead. But now he's making his first starring movie, "Sincerely Yours," and you know how Hollywood can change things.

Oh, he's getting the romance, all right. His amours in the film are brown-haired beauty Joanne Dru and Dorothy Malone, the shapely blonde who sizzled the screens in "Battle Cry."

Lee's first screen kiss was with Miss Malone, and it was a lulu. "We had to hold it while the camera panned over to William Demarest and Joanne," he said. "Then the camera panned back to us, still kissing. Wow!"

But his kiss with Joanne was even more notable. "For three days, her neck had been out of joint and she had been having massages for it," he related. "When I grabbed her and kissed her, I heard a strange noise—you can even hear it on the sound track. It turned out I had put her neck back in joint."

How some of Liberace's possessive fans go for all this smooching remains to be seen. But at least they will be satisfied in seeing a lot of him in the picture.

Liberace plays a popular pianist, but not really Liberace. The story shows him afflicted with partial deafness at the beginning of the picture. Toward the end, he faces an operation that will either restore his hearing or make him completely deaf. You can guess how it turns out.

Oh, yes, he also garners Miss Dru at the fadeout, having managed to elude Miss Malone.

Manners Make Friends

When a married daughter introduces her mother it isn't enough to say "This is my mother." She should say "This is my mother, Mrs. Smith" so that the person will know her mother's name.

Of course, when a daughter's name is the same as her mother's, giving the mother's name is wholly unnecessary.

Aid We Offer Delinquents Today Only Frightens Them

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

We Americans want action on juvenile delinquency.

We are tired of the waste of children. We are tired of the waste of money. We are very tired of the politicians' promises and the reformers' talk of bigger basketball games and prettier playgrounds. For we know that when the children have finished the games and got their heads patted at the playgrounds, they go home to the screams and conflict.

We want action based on the ABC of social service. That ABC is: To get a helpless person to ask for help is your first step in teaching him responsibility for himself.

The screaming, irresponsible people who produce delinquent children are not asking for help because the only kind we offer frightens them. That is our problem.

Up to now, what we offer is the mediation of the cop on the corner—and those hard-to-get services of overloaded private agencies which to thousands of people are either unheard of or associated with snoopiness, patronizing "charity."

What slum child, made frantic by an ailing woman's nagging, is going to seek the corner cop for release of tension and understanding?

What ailing woman, overburdened by shame of her life's failures is going to seek out help she imagines to be snoopiness "charity?"

The proof that such help isn't help is the fact that it is not sought. That's the reality. And until it's faced, we're going to continue making grand humanitarian speeches while we muddle along with public equipment as outgrown as horse cars and Lillian Russell's bustle.

We want a new public service, please. We want it staffed by people as skillful in winning human confidence as our firemen are with pulmotors. We want out from the 19th century and in to the 20th. We want a public family emergency to which an embattled child or his parents can appeal as trustfully as they'd call a hospital or the Fire Department.

Listen! The other day, the mother of a 12-year-old boy who had made himself a juvenile court record as a thief, truant and gangster was asked to explain it. She said, "My relief check is too small. It's terrible to have to say 'No' to your kid when he wants what other kids have."

She was saying: "I am a sick woman. I cannot tolerate restriction. I hate it so that I have infected my son—and driven him to steal what I have had to deny him."

If she had typhus, how fast we'd run! How the ambulance siren would shriek! We'd be there in her tenement in five minutes flat. The street would be cleared. Every special skill of our public health facilities would be rallied to the control of her disease.

But her disease is not typhus. It is more disorder—and until her community can move upon it in emergency public health service, it will continue to spread its contagion to us all.

XXVII
"IT all began," said Michael Shayne evenly, "when that blundering Cossack of yours tried to force his way into Lucy's apartment while I was visiting her, without any real explanation of what he wanted, and with a couple of insults tossed in for good measure when he thought she was alone."

"Wait a minute, Will," Shayne held up a big hand to shut off the chief's protest. The two men, together with Timothy Rourke and a police stenographer, were seated in Gentry's private office at headquarters. "I'm going to tell the whole thing straight and fast without too many excuses for Lucy and me. Tim got pulled into it inadvertently and played ball with us for pure friendship."

He hurried on to relate concisely how Lucy had admitted to him there was a wounded young man in her bedroom.

"So . . . there it was," He spread out his palms. "Through no fault of anybody's really. Jack was an old friend of Lucy's and had sworn to her he'd committed no crime. She didn't know about 18th Street or the strangled girl. I did get on a phone fast, Will, and make an anonymous call to headquarters giving Bristow's name and description. Then I beat it to the rooming house on 18th to see what I could find out."

He related how the woman had stopped him with questions as he was getting into his car. "She was scared of cops, and wouldn't have talked to any of you," he argued. "I did manage to get some dope out of her, and got a hunch she was mixed up with Bristow and the killing somehow. So I put her on ice at the motel. That license number you've got belongs to my Hudson, Will."

Will Gentry was seated stolidly across from Shayne at his desk, mangle the butt of his cigar between strong teeth. "I recognized the license number soon as I saw it, Mike. Go on from there."

"You and Rourke turned up at Lucy's right after I got back," Shayne shrugged. "Can you say, now, that it would have helped any if I'd come clean at that point?"

"The woman from the motel would probably still be alive."

"There was no evidence to tie her to what had happened. Just my hunch. I doubt whether you'd even bothered to question her at that time. If you had, I doubt seriously you'd have put a guard over her," protested Shayne, the trenches showing deep in his cheeks. "Later, I made a big mistake leading the killer to her, but I don't believe keeping still at that time made any real difference."

"I don't suppose it matters to her now," said Gentry. He took the soggy cigar butt from his mouth, looked at it as if wondering how it got there.

"NEXT," said Shayne carefully, "was after you had gone, Will." He drew in a deep breath and leaned forward. "I found Jack Bristow's body shoved underneath Lucy's bed with his throat slit. It hadn't been he escaping down the fire escape after all, but his murderer whom I almost caught."

"Tim," thundered Chief Gentry. "You were in on that, too? Both of you covered up? How did Bristow get out on the street where we found him later?"

"Tim knew nothing about it," said Shayne swiftly. "Wait a minute, Mike," interrupted the lanky reporter. "Don't lie for me. If Will Gentry doesn't like what I did tonight he can prefer any sort of charges he wants." He turned fiercely growling eyes on the chief.

"Mike and Lucy were in a spot with that body in her bedroom. But would a cop look at it that way? You know he wouldn't. I knew they were telling the truth. They were caught in a lousy web of circumstances. But cops have to go by rules. That's the way they exist." His fist thudded the table again. "Once we reported the truth to you, there were certain things you would have to do. You couldn't help yourself. You'd have arrested Mike and Lucy then and there and the official investigation would have blundered on and probably got nowhere. It was my own decision to help Mike move the body."

"AND because you made that decision, we've got a dead woman in the morgue," said Gentry. "Not exactly," Timothy Rourke's eyes were fever-bright. "You've got a dead woman in the morgue, but we can identify her for you simply because Mike stayed out of your jail long enough to do the job."

"You can identify the woman?" "Sure," said Rourke casually. "She's Beatrice Allerdice from New Orleans. Wife, or widow, of one Hugh Allerdice, convicted bank robber who supposedly died in a car accident three days ago."

"I'll tell it the way it happened," said Shayne stubbornly. "Jack Bristow was dead. Will. Nothing could change that. His murderer had escaped and no one knew who he was or what he looked like. He'd been shot outside the rooming house where the woman claimed she was to meet her husband. They're both young, and it seemed to me at least reasonable to suppose he might be the missing husband. So I bundled him up in one of Lucy's blankets and took him out to the motel to see if she could identify him."

Will Gentry had gotten out a fresh cigar and was angrily biting the end off it. "Like a one-man police force," he said bitterly. "All right, what laws did you break next?"

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE LEE CLAUS

The Rev. Joe Maynard, pastor of the Detroit Christian church, received the vows.

The attendant of the bride was her sister, Miss Sally Morrow, who served as maid of honor. Jay Claus, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white lace over pink taffeta with pink and white accessories. She carried a corsage of pink rosebuds on a white ribbon.

The maid of honor wore blue lace over taffeta and wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's mother in Rockport following the ceremony. Misses Kathy and Judy Morrow, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. John Robert Claus served.

The couple left on a wedding trip, destination not disclosed. After June 27 they will reside at their apartment, 132 Piper Lane, in Pittsfield.

Add up the features, compare the prices! A short visit to our showroom plus some simple arithmetic will prove that Plymouth is your best buy of the low-price 3!

Drop by today for a demonstration drive in one of our big, beautiful Plymouths! Here's what you'll discover:

Biggest car of the low-price 3! Plymouth is 17 feet long—by far the largest car in its field, both inside and outside. That means you enjoy the smooth, steady ride only a truly big car, like Plymouth, can give you.

Most beautiful car of the low-price 3! Practically everyone rates Plymouth first for beauty. Charm, a leading fashion magazine, selected Plymouth "beauty buy of the year." Thousands picked Plymouth best-looking of "all 3" low-price cars in a nation-wide survey.

Most economical car of the low-price 3! When it comes to powerplants, there's really no match for either of Plymouth's 2 great engines. Try the 6-cylinder PowerFlow 117, the all-time champ for economy, reliability and performance. Or try the high-flying Hy-Fire V-8—with the highest standard horsepower of the low-price 3.

WHY PAY UP TO $500 MORE FOR A CAR SMALLER THAN PLYMOUTH?

Don't be fooled by the claims of medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags, you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much less, and gives you more car for your money!

Erlene Hammitt, Marvin Risley, Married In Pike

PITTSFIELD —On Sunday, June 19, Miss Erlene Hammitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hammitt, of Pleasant Hill, rural route, became the bride of Marvin Risley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Risley of Griggsville rural route.

The wedding took place in the presence of about 25 relatives and friends at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Plummer in Pittsfield.

The ceremony was performed in front of a large bay window which was decorated with baskets of beautiful flowers, some of which came from the garden of Miss Essie Yakley, aunt of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a ballerina length gown of white nylon net over taffeta. Over the strapless bodice she wore a tiny jacket of nylon net. The bouffant skirt was covered with rows of nylon net ruffling. Her fingertip veil of illusion net, made by her grandmother, cascaded from a crown of tiny golden and white flowers. She wore a corsage of gold carnations.

Miss Kay Hammitt served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow styled much as the bride's and wore a stole of matching nylon net. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Dealas Akin, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Both the groom and best man wore dark business suits with boutonnières of white carnations.

Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by the Reverend Dale Pritchard, Miss Judy Lack-scheide, of Jacksonville, played "The Bridal Chorus" on her accordion, and following the ceremony she played "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held following the ceremony. The beautifully decorated, four-tiered wedding cake, topped by miniature bride and groom was served by Mrs. Dealas Akin after the bride and groom cut the first piece.

The new Mrs. Risley is a 1955 graduate of the Pittsfield High School where she was active in music and dramatics.

Mr. Risley, a 1951 graduate of the Perry High School, attended Western Illinois State College two years, and at present is farming with his father and brother near Perry.

Following a wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Pittsfield for the present.

UNITED AT GREENFIELD

JAMES GRISWOLD AND CAROLE KINSER

The Greenfield Baptist church was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday, June 19, at two-thirty in the afternoon, when Miss Carole Ann Kinser became the bride of James Everett Griswold. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. F. V. Wright, pastor of the church.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kinser of Greenfield and the groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Griswold of Rockbridge.

The church was adorned with Regal lilies, delphinium, and greenery with lighted tapers in candelabrae. Guests attending the ceremony were registered by Mrs.

Gale Cole of Springfield, and Miss Carole Sue Griswold, of Rockbridge. Guests were ushered to their seats by Robert Kinser, brother of the bride, and William Griswold, brother of the groom. The ushers also lighted the candles before the service.

Preceding the ceremony a piano prelude, including several bridal selections, was presented by Miss Nita Ford of Carrollton who also played the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Earl Canedy, accompanied by Miss Ford, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony little Miss Kristen Nell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nell, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Gowned In Lace
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown fashioned in Chantilly lace with a full skirt of tulle and lace. The snug bodice of lace over satin featured an off-the-shoulder effect with a yoke of nylon tulle and a lace Peter Pan collar. Long sleeves tapered to a point over the hands and tiny lace covered buttons closed the sleeves as well as the back of the gown.

The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle featuring a court train, was accented by a band of lace which ended in a deep point both in front and in back. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and a shower of wedding lace. Her only jewelry consisted of a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, and a ring which belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Louella Jackson, now deceased.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Wayne Weber, matron of honor, Miss Dorothy Woods and Miss Nancy Cole, bridesmaids, wore identical ballerina length gowns of net over taffeta, styled with full skirts, strapless bodices and lace bolero jackets. Mrs. Weber's gown was of yellow, Miss Woods wore lavender and Miss Cole was attired in mint green. Their headbands were of matching net ruching. Identical heart-shaped bouquets were carried by the attendants. Mrs. Weber's being of lavender pompoms and the bridesmaids' of yellow pompoms.

The junior bridesmaids, Miss Connie Wayham and Miss Carol Jean Melvin, wore identical ballerina length gowns of lavender net over taffeta and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white carnations. Their headbands were also of matching net ruching.

Jeanie Witt, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witt, served as flower girl. Her full length gown was of yellow organdy and she carried a small basket of yellow rose petals. She wore matching yellow rosebuds in her hair.

Randy Kinser, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kinser, served as ring bearer. He wore an all-white suit and a red carnation and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The groom chose as his best man, Wayne Weber of Rockbridge while Carroll Newton and Dale Haven served as groomsmen. The groom, his attendants, and the ushers all wore black trousers and white coats with red carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a sheer navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother's dress was of printed aqua crepe with white accessories and her corsage also was of white carnations.

Bride's Parents Receive
Following the service, guests were received at a reception at the country home of the bride's parents.

A lovely three-tier wedding cake was centered on the bride's table and white shasta daisies furnished the floral decorations. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Allen Cole of Palmyra, Mrs. Elmer Jackson, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Donald Wright, Mrs. Elbert Dawdy, Mrs. Ralph W. Chapman, and Mrs. Russell Kinser.

Mrs. William Griswold, Miss Connie Witt, and Miss Genelle Wagener assisted at the gift table. Immediately following the reception, the young couple left on a short honeymoon trip of an undisclosed destination.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a dress of pink linen with all white accessories and the orchid from her bridal corsage.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are graduates of the Greenfield Community Unit high school. For the present, they will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

A maxim applauded by those who make our fashions, both men's and women's. By doctors and insurance companies, who know it points the way to better health and longer life.

No wonder today's taste is for lighter, less filling food and drink. No wonder, too, that Pepsi-Cola is today more popular than ever.

For Pepsi-Cola has kept up with the times, with modern taste. Today's Pepsi is light, dry (not too sweet), reduced in calories.

PRETTY GIRLS, RACING DOGS

Scheduled as the new attraction for this year's Western Illinois Fair, which opens June 30 and runs through July 4, will be the first Greyhound dog racing ever presented at a county fair.

Miss Cathy Vaughn of Miami Beach, who has modeled as a lead girl at the Florida tracks will appear at Griggsville and the entire program is patterned exactly after the famed contest there, with the single exception of no betting is allowed.

Stately models lead the dogs to the starting boxes. A mechanical rabbit attached to a fast moving motorcycle, whizzes by the boxes and doors are immediately released, sending the dogs in competitive pursuit. The race course is straight, without turns and the dogs cover the distance in speeds up to 50 miles an hour.

As the rabbit disappears from the dogs' view, the racers are caught in a curtain in the order of their finish and returned to their trailer kennels. Despite their speed, the dogs are easily identified from start to finish since each wears distinctive colors and bears its own individual number.

The greyhound has been valued as a racing dog from about 4000 B.C., the time of the Fourth Dynasty of Egypt, according to historical records. It made its way into Western Europe and the British Isles as early as the Eighth Century. Because of its speed it was then used to hunt the fleetest game. In recent years it has been used almost exclusively for racing.

Although the greyhound's coat may be any color very few are grey. Mostly the racing dogs are white with slate markings and they weigh between 60 and 70 pounds.

Both Coach And Band Director At Virginia Resign

VIRGINIA — Two blows befell the Virginia high school the past two days. Monday evening at the regular meeting of the board of the Virginia Community Unit 62 the resignation Paul Morris, coach at the school for the past two years, and Tuesday morning the Virginia superintendent of schools, G. H. Kimping, received the resignation of Anton Cerveny, who has been band director for the past six years.

Both men will be sorely missed. Mr. Morris will take a position as coach at St. Bede's Academy, a Catholic school located at LaSalle-Peru, Illinois. Mr. Cerveny, who took his Virginia high school band to the state contest at Bloomington last year capturing second place, will be located at the Harvard, Illinois, unit high school, just 70 miles from Chicago.
